Volume 28 Issue 11

November 2018

Gentleman and Ladies,

Capture the moment. Capture it with the realization that our nation is closing in on the 100th anniversary of the end of the WW I, “the war to end all wars.”

World War I began in 1914, following the June 28, 1914 assassination in Serbia of Austrian Archduke Franz Ferdinand, and lasted until 1918. During the conflict, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and the Ottoman Empire (the Central Powers) fought against Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Romania, Japan and the United States (the Allied Powers). The United States had joined the war on April 6, 1917. Under the leadership of Major General John J. Pershing, more than 2 million American troops fought on the battlefields of France.

In November 1918, some 47 miles northeast of Paris, in the Forest of Compiègne, Allied Supreme Commander, Marshal Ferdinand Foch, after three days of negotiations, at 5:00 a.m. signed an armistice, a cessation of war - on air, land and sea - in a carriage of Foch’s private train. The Armistice was to take effect hours later, at 11:00 a.m. on 11 November 1918.

Post-war, in 1919 President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed November 11 as Armistice Day. Beginning in 1954, the United States designated November 11 as Veterans Day to honor veterans of all U.S. wars. British Commonwealth countries now call the holiday Remembrance Day.

In the present day, the 11th Hour of the 11th Day of the 11th Month is a time to give pause and to reflect upon all who serve. It might also be a time to reflect upon the values expressed by our United States armed services within whose branches all of us rightfully claim duty to God and Country.

Common trends run through the expressed values of all branches. Is it fair to suggest these values continue to constructively impact our lives?

Army Core Values:

Loyalty; Duty; Respect; Selfless Service; Honor; Integrity; Personal Courage.

Marine Corps Core Values:

Honor; Courage; Commitment.

Air Force Core Values:

Integrity first; Service before self; Excellence in all we do.

Navy Core Values:

Honor; Courage; Commitment.

Coast Guard Core Values:

Honor; Respect; Devotion to duty.

VVA Chapter 535 Mission Statement

To foster camaraderie among members and assist those with disabling mental and physical injuries, to promote the welfare of our brethren affected by the war, and to engender public understanding of the sacrifice, patriotism and bravery of those who served, those who gave all, and those left behind.

The 50:50 Raffle initiated on May 3, 2018 currently has $208 in the can. If you choose to participate, the Raffle will continue at the meeting of November 1, 2018. At the current $208, if you drew the Black Marble you would pocket $104. Surely that sum will grow on November 1st. The odds are getting better as only six marbles, including the Black Marble, remain in the sock. I plan to buy in and take my chances!

Guest Speaker November 1, 2018

Tom Woollard has worked diligently to engage guest speakers for our meetings but he gets a bye for November. Joining us for our Nov. 1st meeting will be David West II, Nevada County's new Veterans Service Officer.

Attention

If you do not drive and need a ride to a meeting or any VVA-535 function, please contact Bart Ruud or any local VVA -535 member and we will do our best to arrange transportation for you.

Matters of interest as outlined at Board Meeting of October 4, 2018

The Board voted to contribute $200 to the 2018 Stand Down committee, if they need the funds, with $100 designated for Year 2017 and $100 designated for 2018. Ralph will contact Will Buck to see if funds are needed, and if they are not specifically needed, the funds will be returned to the VVA-535 treasury.

Chuck Holmes reported there is a small chance he might be able to attend the October 26 – 28, 2018 meeting in Fresno. He will be in touch with Dick Southern regarding possible attendance. Reimbursement for expenses will be assured if Chuck does attend. VVA 535 is in need of a new liaison to the California State Council. No one on the Board is willing to assume the position.

Bart has contacted Ric Sheridan and Ric will again chair a Christmas potluck dinner, which will be held Dec. 6, 2018 in lieu of a regular meeting.

A free dental clinic will be held in Auburn from 0800 – 1500 hours on Nov. 9 and Nov. 10, 2018 at 3113 Professional Drive for all honorably discharged veterans.

The Board continues to research a fitting legacy project for expenditure of $3,750 that has been contributed in memory of Past-President Harold Graves. When research is completed, a report will be shared with the membership for its consideration.

U.S. Marine Corps 243rd Birthday Bash

The Marine Corps League has announced plans are being laid for the staging the 243rd Birthday and WW I Centennial Celebration Luncheon on Saturday, November 10, 2018 at the Grass Valley Veterans Memorial Building, 235 S. Auburn Street, Grass Valley, CA. Doors open at 10:00 a.m. Ceremony at 12:00 noon. Lunch at 12:30 p.m. The Nevada Union High School Band and Roseville’s John Adams Academy Choir will perform. Menu options: Prime Rib or Roasted Chicken, or Herb-Brushed Salmon at $30. Vegetarian at $20. Mail checks to: Placer Bulldogs #1247. 1608 Poppy Circle, Rocklin, CA 95765.

1st Annual Texas Hold 'Em Tournament

A gold star to Dave Middleton! Following weeks of planning and almost single-handedly coordinating the tournament, staged on October 20th, the tournament can be noted as a success. Although the turnout of players was smaller than had been anticipated, observation was that the players thoroughly enjoyed their outing at the Veterans Memorial Hall. With Dave's planning, and with tournament logistics being handled by Blue Dog Events, the gaming came off without a hitch. At the end of the day, players enthusiastically said they would be happy to return for a 2nd Annual event. There is no stronger compliment.

Two notable attractions during the event also deserve mention. First, Bill and Camille Hald displayed an array of fabulous sculpture, and secondly, the hand-crafted tribute knife donated for a Friends of Vinh Son Orphanage Raffle resulted in VVA-535 making a $1,065 contribution to FVSO. Many thanks are extended to Dave Middleton for securing the tribute knife from Vietnam Dark Horse crew chief Bill Jenkins, a Master Bladesmith, who lives in the mountains of Kentucky.

It's fair to say much was learned and the drill will be less foreboding another time. To all who were involved with soliciting raffle prizes and sponsorships, or to lend a hand with set-up, takedown and everything in between, thank you. And to the winner, VVA-535 member Gary B., congratulations on stoically playing the cards dealt, right down to the last bet!

A Majority of Veterans Want Troops to Return From Afghanistan

By Mike Ludwig Truthout PUBLISHED October 10, 2018

Seventeen years after the United States led an invasion of Afghanistan, a majority of the general public — especially military veterans — do not think the seemingly endless war has been successful. Most Americans support bringing US troops home.

According to a new poll conducted by YouGov and released this week, about 57 percent of people living in the United States said they would support a move by the president to remove all troops from Afghanistan. Among military veterans, support for ending the war was even stronger: 69 percent were in favor of bringing the troops home. About 63 percent of the general public and 64 percent of veterans said some or all of the US troops stationed in Afghanistan should return within the next five years.

A majority (53 percent) of those surveyed — including 60 percent of veterans — said the US government does not have a clear military objective in Afghanistan.

After criticizing foreign wars on the campaign trail, President Trump announced a vague strategy for ending the war in Afghanistan last year. However, he also lifted restrictions on wartime spending and gave military commanders on the ground wider latitude to launch attacks without White House permission. Earlier this year, Trump signed a defense spending bill authorizing $69 billion for foreign conflicts such as the war in Afghanistan, the highest price tag since 2014.

The poll was commissioned by the conservative-leaning news site RealClearPolitics and the Charles Koch Institute, a right-libertarian think tank funded by billionaire Charles Koch. Progressives and the anti-war left have opposed the war from the beginning, and growing concern among fiscal conservatives is a clear sign that opposition to the war in Afghanistan crosses ideological and party lines.

“Looking back at the many years of fighting in our longest war, at the successes and setbacks, and the death or wounding of thousands of Americans, allied servicemen and women, and our Afghan friends, it's clear that continuing on the current course is not in our national interest," said Rep. Ruben Gallego, a Democrat from Arizona and a veteran of the war in Iraq, in a statement this week. "American troops should come home."

In the YouGov poll, about two-thirds of respondents and a striking 73 percent of veterans do not think the war has been a success for the US, despite the high-profile killing of al-Qaeda leader Osama Bin Laden in 2011. Forty percent of veterans now say the war effort has been unsuccessful, while 33 percent characterized the war as neither successful nor unsuccessful, according to the poll. Less than one in four veterans said the war has been a success, along with about 21 percent of the public.

Sunday was the 17-year anniversary of the US and British-led invasion of Afghanistan aimed at toppling the Taliban and rooting out al-Qaeda militants, less than a month after the 9/11 attacks. The Taliban marked the occasion with attacks on US-backed security forces, and dozens were killed as violence erupted across the country over the weekend.

Less than one in four veterans said the war has been a success, along with about 21 percent of the public.

A Taliban assault on Monday in northern Jawzjan province left 12 security members of the Afghan security forces dead and 10 others wounded, according to reports. The Taliban released a statement the same day calling upcoming elections in Afghanistan "bogus" due to the continued US occupation of the country and called on militants to disrupt the process with attacks.

After 17 years of war, the Taliban still claims to control about half the territory in the country.

By the most recent US estimates, the US-backed government controls only 56 percent of Afghanistan's districts, and about 30 percent remain contested. Nearly 14 percent of districts are under control of insurgents, a 1 percent increase from mid-2017.

Meanwhile, the cost of the war continues to mount. More than 104,000 people have lost their lives due to the war in Afghanistan, including more than 31,000 civilians and 2,351 US servicemen and women. Thousands more US military members have returned home with injuries and mental health problems.

In a commentary preceding the 17th anniversary of the war, Mary Hladky of the grassroots group Military Families Speak Out noted that much of that money goes to military contractors. US taxpayers have spent an estimated $5.6 trillion on the "war on terror" since the Bush administration launched the worldwide war in 2001 — including about $45 billion on the war in Afghanistan each year. At least $15.5 billion in taxpayer funding has been wasted on faulty programs, failed efforts and fraud and abuse among contractors in Afghanistan. "Wars since 9/11 have little to do with protecting Americans but are all about the immensely profitable business of war," Hladky, whose son served in Afghanistan, wrote. "We are told that our massive war spending is necessary to support the troops. But, in fact, it supports defense contractors making record profits."

From 2002 to 2017, the US government spent about $4.7 billion on "stabilization efforts and programs" in Afghanistan, according to the most recent quarterly report to Congress from the Special Inspector General for Afghanistan Reconstruction (SIGAR). Despite this massive investment, the report concedes that Afghanistan is "clearly not yet stable;" and it remains unclear how the country can be stabilized after enduring violent invasions and occupations by foreign governments for decades.

SIGAR also told lawmakers in July that at least $15.5 billion in taxpayer funding has been wasted on faulty programs, failed efforts and fraud and abuse among contractors in Afghanistan.

Looking back at 9/11 and early days of the war, the public is divided and unsure about whether invading Afghanistan was a good idea in the first place. Thirty-nine percent now say that sending troops to Afghanistan was a “mistake,” while 30 percent say it was the correct choice and 31 percent are not sure. A slim majority of veterans (54 percent) say President Bush made the right choice, but 31 percent say it was a mistake and 15 percent are unsure.

“When will we stand up to change the direction of our country?” Hladky asked. Now, with an overwhelming majority of veterans questioning US wars, maybe the time has come.

Writing Your Story for INCOMING

(Ongoing repeat solicitation)

Ideas for your story:

- Think about what you appreciated about the Vietnam experience. There is surely a means to segue into that with very little reflection on the negative aspects of war.

- What did you appreciate about the Vietnamese people during your deployment?
- Can you steer away from the bad stuff and reflect on the best experience you had in the Nam?
- Surely you had a close buddy and you supported each other. Maybe there is a story in that.
- What really got you through the day-to-day anxieties and fears? There might be a positive recollection in that regard.
- How did your experience instill in you a sense of patriotism that you possibly express every day of your life.

So far we have heard from Ruud, Epps, Chaix, Hamer, Chuck Holmes, current Marine LCpl. Jesse Hernandez, Kent Hawley, and Mike Laborico. (Thank you!)

No writer needs to dwell on the negatives of war. Each of us who was there lived the negatives, and all of us are better people for having served, especially when we look at how we matured as a result of our experiences. Each of us has derived a sense of being and an energy that is different from what it might have been had we not been sent across the pond.

Do share with us, in your own words, something of that chapter of your life. And, thank you for your service.

Forward your story to Bart Ruud at bruud45@gmail.com or hand deliver to Bart.

Attached is an iPhone photo of the belt buckle crafted by artisan and sculptor Bill Hald and presented to Past-President Chuck Holmes, who so ably served us as VVA-535 President and as our representative to State Council meetings during his presidency. The photo yours truly took does not do justice but it does provide an acknowledgment of Bill Hald's thoughtfulness and an acknowledgment of Chuck's service to VVA-535 and to his service to our country in the Medical Corps of the United States Air Force.

A Gentle Reminder About Volunteerism

Excerpted from INCOMING, October 2018

Now is the time for self-introspection regarding volunteerism. We need engagement! Without engagement we risk not meeting our goals. Disengagement is bad news and even a threat to our survival as a worthy and proud organization.

Active engagement brings personal and organization rewards. Just ask those who volunteered at our 2018 Nevada County Fair to set up and take down our booth, and then fill a shift or two to greet the public. Likewise, ask those who volunteered to assist Dave Middleton with our recent Texas Hold 'Em Poker Tournament. I would venture to say to the man or woman that these were fun and interesting times. The hard part is getting started, but once engaged, the rewards are a positive influence on how we feel about ourselves. We tend to feel good about our contributions to the cause.

Volunteerism allows us to feel that we are contributing to the success of VVA-535. Volunteerism gives us a sense of purpose. Volunteerism helps us learn to be a team player. Volunteerism helps us learn interesting things about our cohorts.

Victorian Christmas is labor intensive but the rewards and satisfactions from participation are real.

Thank you Jose Gonzales for taking on a leadership role in this project.

Veterans FREE Dental Care

Dr. Erik Matson – Rock Creek Dental, Auburn, CA., has organized a dental clinic to serve eligible veterans at no charge on November 9th and 10th.

Dr. Matson's office is located at 3113 Professional Drive, Auburn.

7:30 a.m. Check In – Location: 3113 Professional Dr., Auburn, CA.

Services offered: Fillings, Extractions, and Cleaning.

Veteran Status ID required.

Dr. Matson has 15+ dentists that volunteered and they will be working out of 5 offices within walking distance of the check-in point.

Dr. Matson became a Navy recruit fresh out of high school at the age of eighteen. After serving on shore in the Middle East, he was transferred to one of the last Spruance-class destroyers in the Naval fleet, stationed in Japan. There he was trained for ocean rescue operations. After six years of service, with the end of his second stint in the Navy, the future dentist took advantage of veteran education programs to study Human Biology at the junior college level and then at the University of California, San Diego.

Active in Service at the College Level

While at UCSD, Dr. Matson noted that it was difficult to receive the services veterans were entitled to as university students. He helped form a student veteran organization that advocated for all veterans on campus. The notoriety of his role in leading this group led to his inclusion in local campaign appearances for Senator John McCain during the politician's presidential run.

After his undergraduate studies were completed, Dr. Matson enrolled in the first dental program at Western University. His grandfather had served as a dentist in Sacramento and recommended the career. Dr. Matson now focuses on helping Auburn residents fight the two largest problems he sees in his office: periodontal disease and tooth decay.

A Nice bit of History - to keep our spirits up as we all Vote on 6 November

Frank Sinatra considered Kate Smith the best singer of her time, and said that when he and a million other guys first heard her sing "God Bless America" on the radio, they all pretended to have dust in their eyes as they wiped away a tear or two.

Here are the facts; The link at the bottom will take you to a video showing the very first public singing of "God Bless America". But before you watch it you should know the story behind the first public showing of the song.

The time was 1940. America was still in a terrible economic depression. Hitler was taking over Europe and Americans were afraid we'd have to go to war. It was a time of hardship and worry for most Americans.

This was the era just before TV, when radio shows were HUGE and American families sat around their radios in the evenings, listening to their favorite entertainers and no entertainer of that era was bigger than Kate Smith. Kate was also large; 'plus size' as we now say, and the popular phrase still used today is in deference to her; "It ain't over till the fat lady sings."

Kate Smith might not have made it big in the age of TV, but with her voice coming over the radio, she was the biggest star of her time.

Kate was also patriotic. It hurt her to see Americans so depressed and afraid of what the next day would bring. She had hope for America, and faith in her fellow Americans. She wanted to do something to cheer them up, so she went to the famous American song-writer Irving Berlin (who also wrote White Christmas) and asked him to write a song that would make Americans feel good again about their country. When she described what she was looking for, he said he had just the song for her. He went to his files and found a song that he had written but never published, 22 years before - in 1917. He gave it to her and she worked on it with her studio orchestra. She and Irving Berlin were not sure how the public would receive the song, but both agreed they would not take any profits from God Bless America... Any profits would go to the Boy Scouts of America. Over the years, the Boy Scouts have received millions of dollars in royalties from this song.

This video starts out with Kate Smith coming into the radio studio with the orchestra and an audience. She introduces the new song for the very first time and starts singing. After the first couple verses, with her voice in the background, scenes are shown from the 1940 movie, "You're In The Army Now". At the 4:20 mark of the video you see a young actor in the movie, sitting in an office, reading a paper; it's Ronald Reagan.

To this day, God Bless America stirs our patriotic feelings and pride in our country. Back in 1940, when Kate Smith went looking for a song to raise the spirits of her fellow Americans, I doubt whether she realized just how successful the results would be for her fellow Americans during those years of hardship and worry... and for many generations of Americans to follow.

Now that you know the story of the song, I hope you'll enjoy it. Many people don't know there's a lead in to the song, since it usually starts with "God Bless America..." So here's the entire song as originally sung.
